James A. Pollock & Co., stock and grain brokers 6 West Second South street, make public the following letters in the stock market.

Dick Brow. New York, say: "The market was strong again today, having recovered from Thesday's reaction and making fair progress toward a higher price level. Foreign news was encouraging. No further gold was engaged and money continued easy. There were some reactions due to profit taking in the last hour, but there was a general recovery at the close. Better prices tomorrow were indicated by the strong closing."

T. A. McIntyre & Co., New York, say: "Bullish sentiment continued to predominate in the stock market today and the large interests continues active in working prices up. London houses were large buyers, taking forther large amounts of stocks sold last week when the excitement was at its height over the foreign political situation. Suffice it to say that the loading market interests are continuing to encourage active bullish speculation to invite outside busing and encourage a larger investment demand."

Hotton. New York, says: "Pennsylvania, H. & O. and Reading market interests. In the case of Pennsylvania this stock has been selling much too low with the general list. Buying in H. & O. was in connection with an expected increase in the dividend rate of 5 per cent. His operators have been fighting the advance in Reading Common, as it pays only 4 per cent. However, it is carning more than either B. & O. or Pennsylvania. Hence it is natient that this stock is being continuoully absorbed for better dividends in the future. The tone of the general market was strong and seems to give evidence daily that this buil movement is based on good general predictions throughout the session but the efficience for tomorrow."

Logan & Bryun, New York, say "Market closed strong and seems to give evidence daily that this buil movement is based on good general predictions throughout the country. It & O. was one of the strong features of the day's session, but the efficience is throughout the s

CHICAGO, June II —Strength in the wheat market developed toward the middle of the seasion. Notwithstanding numerous builted in fluenced, sentiment early was quite beariab. In addition to the fact that cables were strong, weather in the Northwest was a creatinuation of the cool, wet conditions that have prevailed there for some time. In the Southwest, however, the weather was generally favorable for harvesting.

This circumstance induced considerable selling of July. Most of this selling was by cash houses. The feature of trading at this time, however, was heavy profit-taking here, as welling at Minneapolis under the selling the markets by a prominent trader at Minneapolis. Under this selling the market became quite weak.
